Environmental protection

Environmentally friendly disposal

Dispose of packaging in an environmentally friendly manner.

Grilling with the grill spit set

The large spit is particularly good for cooking large roasts, such as rolled roasting joints or poultry. The meat becomes crispy and brown.

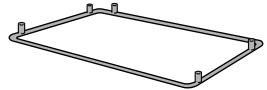

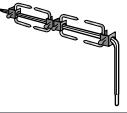

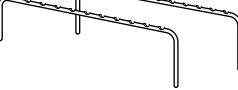

You can use the portions spits to cook vegetables and small fish, for example.

Parts of the grill spit set

The grill spit set is made up of various different parts. This table gives you an overview of the parts supplied and how to use them correctly.

Note: The grill spit set must only be used in the universal pan.

Clean all parts of the grill spit set before using it for the first time. They are dishwasher-safe.

	Grill pan (two-part) Place in the universal pan. Acts as a splatter guard and as a supporting plate for the support stand. Only use in the universal pan.
	Support stand For attaching support frames and supports.
	Support For supporting the large spit. Only use with the support stand.
	Grill spit, large For grilling large joints of meat, poultry and large whole fish.
	Clips For securing meat, poultry and fish to the large spit.
	Support frame For supporting portion spits. Only use with the support stand.
	Portion spits with sliding aids For grilling vegetables, small fish and small pieces of meat. The sliding aid on each spit helps to slide the grilled food off easily.

You can buy accessories from our after-sales service, from specialist retailers or online.

Skewering and securing food to the spit

To ensure that your food is well-browned and cooked evenly, observe the following points:

Skewer the food to be grilled as centrally as possible on the large grill spit.

Secure the food in place at both ends using the clips and tighten the screws firmly.

When grilling two chickens at the same time, secure each chicken in place using two clips.

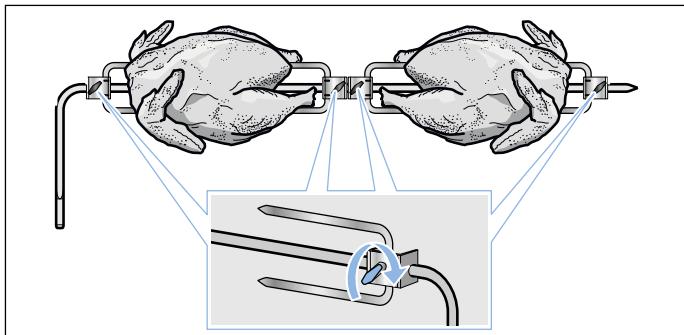

Bind roasting joints together securely using kitchen string. When grilling poultry, bind the ends of the wings underneath the back and the thighs against the body. This will prevent them from overbrowning. Pierce the skin on the underside of the wings to allow the fat to run out.

When grilling whole fish, close the abdominal cavity using kitchen string.

Preparing the grill spit

Example: Grilling two chickens:

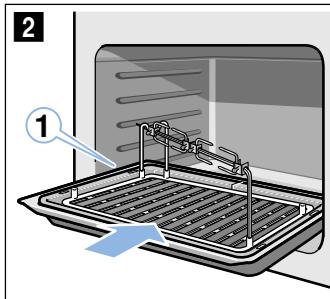

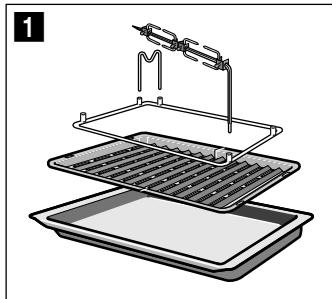

1. Slide a clip almost to the end of the large grill spit.
2. Slide the first chicken onto the grill spit and push the clip firmly into the meat. Tighten the screw firmly.
3. Slide a second clip onto the grill spit and push the clip firmly into the meat. Tighten the screw firmly.
4. Slide the third clip directly onto the second clip and move it as described in points 2 and 3.

Note: Position the chickens on the grill spit so that their legs are pointing towards each other. The second chicken must not stick out over the end of the grill spit.

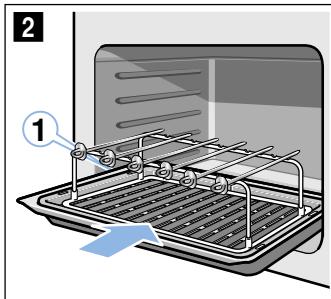

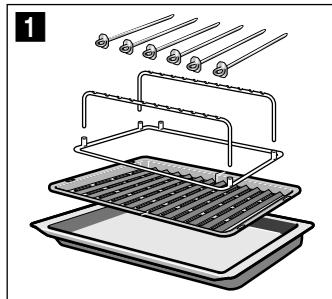

Using the large grill spit

1. Place the grill tray on the universal pan.
2. Place the support stand on the universal pan.
3. Insert the support into the two ferrules at the back.
4. Rest the large spit on the support and insert it into the ferrule at the front.
5. Push the universal pan in fully on level 1.

Using the portion spits

1. Preheat the oven.
2. Place the grill tray on the universal pan.
3. Place the support stand on the grill tray.
4. Insert the support frames (two) into the ferrules.
5. Rest the portions spits on the support frames.
6. Push the universal pan in fully on level 1.

Grilling poultry, meat, fish and vegetables

Keep the appliance door closed when using the grill. Never grill with the appliance door open.

Recommended setting values

The table shows the setting values for various foods. The temperature and the cooking time depend on the quantity, the composition and the temperature of the food. Settings ranges are indicated for this reason. Try using the lower setting values first. You can use a higher setting next time if necessary.

The setting values are based on the assumption that meat, poultry and fish are not stuffed and that they are placed in the cooking compartment when it is cold.

Preheating is required when grilling using the portion spits; this is indicated in the table.

The table lists information with default values for the weight. If you are grilling a joint that is heavier than the weight specified, always use the lower temperature.

As a general rule: The larger the food being grilled, the lower the temperature and the longer the cooking time.

If you wish to follow one of your own recipes, you should use similar dishes for reference.

You do not need to turn the food during grilling.
